

Jack and the sunflower

One day farmer Jack went out into the garden with his daughter Grace to feed her pet monkeys. Farmer Jack was very surprised to see a humongous, yellow sunflower growing at the top of a gigantic tree. Jack said to Grace "we could plant all of those seeds in our field to grow lots of sunflowers." Grace replied "how will we get them down." Jack thought about the problem and came up with an idea, they could use Grace's pet monkeys because they are strong.

So, Grace gave her pet monkeys a rope and they climbed the tree. When the closet, little monkeys reached the top of the tree, they tied the rope around the giant sunflower head. Grace tied the other end of the rope to her dad's tractor. Jack drove off as fast as he could. Suddenly the giant head POPPED OFF! The head exploded on the grass.

The seeds scattered all over the garden.

Farmer Jack, Grace and the monkeys gathered up all of the seeds and put them in the big trailer. Jack used the tractor to drive the trailer into the field, Grace and the monkeys helped Jack to plant the seeds all over the field.
